In some situations, your personal data may be collected and further processed based on your statement of granted consent, in which you express your voluntary, specific, informed, and clear consent to the processing of your personal data for a particular purpose and which shall always include information about the option to revoke such consent at any time.

During the processing of your personal data, no automated decisions are made based on which any steps or decisions would be enacted that would interfere with your rights and/or legitimate interests.

Your personal data are processed solely for the amount of time essential, which is individual for the specific purposes of processing. Following the lapse of that period, your personal data will be liquidated or further archived only for the period of time stipulated in the valid record-keeping and document shredding plan, issued in accordance with Act No 499/2004 Coll, on archiving and record-keeping.

In connection with the processing of your personal data, you are entitled to access your personal data, to correct or delete your data, and/or to limit data processing, to raise an objection against data processing, or to exercise your right to transfer your data, and/or other rights in accordance with the GDPR.

You may exercise your rights by addressing the representative responsible for personal data protection (see contact details above).

Your requirements will always be properly evaluated and settled in accordance with the relevant provisions of the GDPR. If you disagree with the handling of your requirements and/or requests, you have the right to lodge a complaint with the Czech Personal Data Protection Office.
